REATTACH THERAPY WORKSHOP IN DELHI

ReAttach

If talking no longer helps...

January 27-29, 2017

ReAttach Therapy Workshop

What is ReAttach?

ReAttach is a short, friendly and accessible intervention that has shown to be a good choice for patients with mild or more severe mental health problems like ASD, personality disorders or OCD.

ReAttach is a positive or neutral emotional experience. We see great results in individuals that suffer from traumatic experiences or anxiety problems.

We feel that it is a benefit for many participants that they do not have to talk about their problems. Cognitive bias modification allows us to alter maladaptive patterns into more adaptive and healthy biases very quickly in a positive way. The method can be adapted to developmental stages and is therefore accessible for young children or individuals with cognitive delay.

The Facilitator

Drs. Paula Weerkamp-Bartholomeus is a senior Psychotherapist from the Netherlands and is the innovator of 'ReAttach' a new schema therapy for adults and children and a multimodal intervention for ASD. She is the winner of the Clinical Neuropsychiatry Award 2015.

ReAttach Therapy, developed by Paula Weerkamp-Bartholomeus, is theoretically based in Attachment Theory and Schema Therapy. Cognitive bias modification allows us to alter maladaptive patterns into more adaptive and healthy biases quickly and positively. As an extension of this, ReAttach Therapy distinguishes itself by emphasizing the importance of attachment and play. A short and accessible intervention, ReAttach Therapy provides an emotionally neutral experience shown to have a positive impact on patients with ASD, personality disorder or chronic PTSD.
